Mothers, Mothering and Sex Work

Edited by Rebecca Bromwich & Monique Marie DeJong

“Mothers, Mothering and Sex Work is a much-needed intervention that illuminates the intersectional challenges facing mothers involved in sex work, and their children, extended families and communities. Taking a transdisciplinary approach, the creative-critical anthology engages with the resistance, resilience, joy and humour that sex working mothers demonstrate in the face of stigma, oppression and sex work-phobic maternal discourses.”

—Dr. Ummni Khan, Associate Professor, Carleton University

Mothers Under Fire: Mothering in Conflict Areas

Edited by Tatjana Takševa and Arlene Sgoutas

“Mothers Under Fire: Mothering in Conflict Areas is an excellent and welcome contribution to the study of gender and conflict, and in particular the impact of conflict on mothers and mothering. Through different disciplinary perspectives, first person interviews, and historical and contemporary cases across geographic regions, this book convincingly demonstrates how mothers have agency in times of conflict and post-conflict.”

—Kristen P. Williams, Clark University
