CALL FOR PAPERS
Demeter Press
is seeking submissions for an edited collection entitled
Gun Violence and Gun Control: Critical Engagements

Editors: Rebecca Bromwich, PHD LLM LLB, Carleton University Department of Law and Legal Studies, Annette Bailey, RN, BScN, MSN, PhD, and Thomas Harrison, PHD MPPA LLB BED, Queen’s University Law School
Deadline for Abstracts: October 15, 2018

Overview
This interdisciplinary anthology will contribute to documenting, intervening, and participating in contemporary conversations about gun violence and gun control. We envision the anthology will be an open and innovative space for critical discussion employing a variety of perspectives and approaches including feminist approaches, and also welcome creative, and activist submissions. The volume will be a distinct collection, highlighting a diversity of critical viewpoints, which will also serve as a dynamic forum where creative and scholarly contributions are synthesized to more holistically address issues in this area.

Contributions are being sought from a wide range of fields, that includes: law and legal studies, psychology, sociology, anthropology, women's and gender studies, cultural studies, literary studies, as well as other disciplines within the social sciences and humanities, and may utilize a variety of methodological approaches. Creative submissions that engage with the issue of firearms’ regulation, gang culture and gun violence, and gun violence general, are also encouraged. These may include: works of fiction, creative non-fiction, poetry and artistic representations, in addition to traditional academic writing, which will all be welcome.

Submission Guidelines:
Please send abstracts of approximately 250 words, together with a 150 word biographical statement before October 15, 2018
Notification of decisions re: acceptance will be communicated on or before December 30, 2018
Completed chapters, 15-20 double-spaced pages in length, are due on or before May 1, 2019
Publication date will be: Fall, 2019

Please send any inquiries, as well as submissions, to: Rebecca.Bromwich@Carleton.ca
